

Suppen:*Leberknödelsuppe:Pfannkuchensuppe:Würste:Münchner Weisswurst:Bratwurst:Hauptgerichte:Schweinsbraten:Schweinshaxn:Sauerbraten:Backendl or Brathänchen:Wienerschnitzel:Forelle Blau:Beilagen:Bratkartoffeln:Pommes Frites:Salat:Knödel:Blaukraut:Sauerkraut:Breze:Semmel:Nachspeisen und Mehlspeisen: Desserts and Pastries:Apfelstrudel:Zwetchgendatschi:Schwarzwälderkekuchen:Käsekuchen:Bayerisch Crème:Apfelkuchen:Germknödel:Windbeutel :Kaiserschmarrn:Getränke:Bier:Pils:Weissbier:Ein Mass Bier:Rotwein:Weisswein:Soups:

A broth with liver dumplings

A broth with strips of pancake in it

Sausages:

A Munich specialty normally eaten only before midday

A grilled pork sausage (one of the many in Bavaria)

Main dishes:

Slices of pork roast

Crispy-roast pork knuckle

Marinated, boiled beef

Roast or fried chicken

Breaded slice of veal or pork

Steamed trout

Side dishes:

Pan-roasted potatoes

French fries (GB: chips)

Salad (a mix of raw, cooked and canned vegetables)

Various types of dumplings (flour, breadcrumb, potato)

Cooked red cabbage

Sauerkraut

Large, soft, freshly-baked pretzel

White roll

Apple strudel

Plum tart

Black Forest cake

German cheesecake

Custard-like dessert lightened with whipped cream

Apple cake

Steamed sweet bread filled with plum paste, served either with melted butter and poppy seed and sugar or with vanilla sauce

Large cream puff filled with ice cream and topped with cherries and whipped cream.

Light pancakes, cut up and served with warm apple sauce

Beverages:

A half liter of lager

A pilsner beer (either one-third or one-half liter)

Cloudy, yeasty beer made of barley and wheat

A liter mug of beer (like at the Munich Oktoberfest)

Red wine (usually served by the eighth or quarter liter)

White wine (same serving size as above)